

F-Class SBR (.22 LR)

Held on the Silhouette Range

Come shoot F-Class SBR (small bore rifle), an NRA provisional match that began in 2017. The match was developed to replicate the High-Power F-Class competition but shot at 100, and 200 yards with 22's in lieu of the 300 -1000 yards shot with centerfire rifles. We'll only shoot 100 yards this year using a A-33 NRA target and add the 200-yard distance next year.

In a nutshell this is a paper bullseye target shot in the prone position with the use of a bipod and rear bag rest in the FTR and FLR divisions, or front machine rest and rear bag for the F/O division, Do a little research and learn how fast it's grown and the number of people shooting F-Class international.
