Military Bolt Action Bench Rest

By Curt Bohlman

Bolt action military rifles have been in production for nearly 200 years. As technological advancements are made, newer models replace the former and a military surplus results. It is not uncommon for a country to hold on to surplus rifles for mulita contingency, but as these rifles age out, they find their ways into the hands of sportsmen and enthusiasts. Today, many antiquated military rifles occupy the dark corners of gun safes, all but forgotten.

I have no idea where or when it happened, but someone got the idea that getting together with buddies and shooting these rifles in friendly competition might be fun. Thus, Military Bolt Action Bench Rest was born! All of the marksmanship fundamentals come to bear in this discipline where sights are rough, triggers are heavy, the target is small, and recoil is a reality. It's a great way to develop skills which easily cross over to hunting and other marksmanship disciplines, on a budget.

As you can imagine there is quite an exhaustive list of rifles that can be used in these matches. Some of the more common ones are the Springfield 1903 and A3O3, M96 Swedish Mauser, and 91/30 Mosin Nagant. Many competitors load their own ammunition at reduced velocity to tame recoil, and enhance accuracy. Some even shoot cast bullets to extend barrel life.

As Military Bolt Action Bench Rest implies, these rifles are shot from a bench, with the support of some kind of a front rest, but can't be the type that clamp the rifle in place. Other equipment such as spotting scopes, sight black, a rear bag, and even shooting jackets are allowed. Hearing and Eye protection is required. Guns and ammo must be proof tested prior to shooting in the matches as a safety precaution.

There is no national sanctioning authority that I could find but at least several other states shoot these matches. The participating clubs drafted a "Preamble" which provides some details and rules which can be found with a quick internet search.

The agreed upon course of fire is 10 shots for practice and 5 strings of 10 shots for record. The first two strings are shot for group size (smallest wins or course) and the final three strings are shot for score. The target agreed upon is the NRA SR-21 which has a 6.12" aiming black and only a .79" X-ring. This is a demanding target at 100 yards with iron or "open sights"; optical sights are not allowed. At the end of the match there are two winners identified, defined by Smallest Group and Highest Score.

To keep things inexpensive and "fair to all", rifles may not be highly modified to shoot more accurately, though some modifications like free-floating, paper shims, trigger work, and even some sight modification fits in the "ok" category of gun work. The spirit of competition dictates using "as issued" rifles. Four clubs in the Oklahoma have an annual Inter-club competition, which generally falls in mid-October. The clubs are Tri-City Gun Club of Norman, Oil Capitol Rod and Gun Club of Coweta, The Oklahoma City Gun Club of Arcadia, and Stephens County Rifle and Pistol of Duncan. This year's State Championship was hosted by Tri-City Gun Club of Norman and sponsored by the Oklahoma Rifle Association. Next Month's Primer will report on that match.

If you like the idea of improving your marksmanship skills on a budget MBABR is a great way to go. Reach out the OKCGC Benchrest Division, and get involved in 2026! As with most shooting sports, you'll get plenty of help if you ask.

Note to Members

Suzi Rouse, OKC Gun Club President

You may have noticed some new signs at the entrances of the club. These are meant to reaffirm to all “non-members” that we are a private club. The following information will be part of the next Members Guide and should be adhered to. If there are any questions or concerns, do not hesitate to contact a club official.

Rule #1. This range and associated facilities are for the use of OKLAHOMA CITY GUN CLUB members and their guests only. Members must wear their membership badges at all times while at the range. If you lose your membership badge, request a replacement by contacting membership@okcgunclub.org.

To deter non-club members from entering through an open gate and using the club at their leisure, the board has posted “no trespassing” signs at all entrances, a requirement for the prosecution of trespassers.

Please offer gentle reminders to your club mates to wear their badges prominently, and don’t be reluctant to ask a stranger at the club to see his or her badge if not being worn. While we welcome non-members to participate in many of our matches and events, they must remain in the area of the activity while on our property. Non-members are not familiar with our rules and could pose a safety or security risk.

If anyone not wearing a badge offers any resistance when confronted, discretely get a picture of their license plate, and forward the picture, with time, place and other pertinent information to any board member. Non-compliant members will have the opportunity to explain their actions at a board meeting, and non-members will be contacted by police.

Thank you for helping make the OKLAHOMA CITY GUN CLUB a safer place for our members and communities.

NRA Training Counselor Development Workshop

The Training Division hosted the NRA Training Counselor Development Workshop held at the OKC Gun Club October 20 through October 24. This workshop is the pinnacle of NRA Instructor training. The NRA Education and Training Division holds six of these workshops a year, this was the only one outside of their home range in Virginia this year. It was 37 hours in length, including 10.5 hours of range time firing approximately 350 rounds, and 26.5 hours of classroom instruction with extensive practical applications. Evaluations included pistol qualifications, holster work, two exams, giving two presentations, and conducting proper feedback. We had candidates from Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas, Missouri, Hawaii and Guam.

The NRA goal is to be the Gold Standard for firearms training. This begins with having very qualified Training Counselors. To be eligible to be a candidate, one needs to be an NRA instructor for at least two years, be the lead instructor for 10 live fire classes in two disciplines, with a total of 50 or more students. There were 12 candidates in this workshop, only 6 were considered fully qualified, a 50% pass rate. The other 6 were considered not ready and will have the opportunity to make up any areas they need improvement in. In addition, there were 4 current Training Counselors who audited the course. Overall, there were 19 people attending, including the three NRA staff members.

This was a very rigorous course, and our Training Division Chair, Kemit Grafton, is now an NRA Certified Training Counselor. This now authorizes him to conduct NRA Instructor Training Courses in the disciplines in which he holds NRA Instructor certifications.

Kemit said he looks forward to continuing to serve the Oklahoma City Gun Club and the community with quality firearms training.

Action Shooting Division – The Year in Review

By John Bent

2025 has been a banner year for the Action Shooting Division. We offer 8 different types of matches throughout the year, with one or more events taking place every weekend of the month.

A few highlights:

USPSA matches on the 1st Saturday continue to hold the record for largest turnout, averaging 108 shooters monthly.

Last year, we started offering Practical Rifle matches on the 4th Saturday for those who like the “run and gun” of USPSA but with rifles. It has proven extremely popular offering an opportunity for light carbine/rifles, PCC, Rimfire and Battle Rifle (6.5cm and larger).

Steel Challenge, GSSF and Shoot Sig matches are all very popular and offer excellent ways to get involved in shooting competitions with minimal equipment. They also offer rimfire divisions – almost everyone has a .22!

Our regular GSSF and Shoot Sig matches are considered practice matches. The major difference is you can shoot any centerfire pistol or rimfire pistol you want in equivalent divisions – you don’t have to shoot a Sig or a Glock. Official GSSF and Shoot Sig matches are also hosted by the club annually and are popular multi-day events.

In November, the 2025 Oklahoma Section USPSA Red Dirt Rumble “All Gas, No Brakes” Championship was held with 200 shooters, setting a new record for match turnouts.

For more details, check our division website at Action Shooting Division. Better yet, come on out and give it a try or watch an event. We almost always have some first time competitors.

Summary of Training Division Activities for 2025

By Kemit Grafton

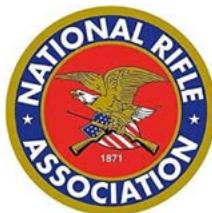

In 2025, the training division conducted classes for a total of 218 students, which included 40 new NRA certified Range Safety Officers (RSO). We conducted over 100 classes including Basic Handgun, Oklahoma Self Defense Act (SDA), SDA Refresher, Buying Your First Handgun, Home Defense Carbine, Home Defense Shotgun, and NRA RSO.

We also hosted several outside training classes, with the Glock Armorer’s course and the Glock MOS Operator Course. Additionally, we hosted Brian Hill’s Pistol Essentials class. We also conducted 5 NRA Academies where we trained NRA Instructor candidates in Pistol, Rifle, Shotgun, CCW, Personal Protection In and Outside the Home, and Chief, Range Safety Officer. Furthermore, we conducted NRA Courses in Basic Pistol, Basic Rifle, Basic Shotgun, Basic Muzzleloader, and Personal Protection In and Outside the Home.

In addition to our classes, we hosted Scout troops for their merit badge qualifications, Civil Air Patrol cadets, and Sea Scouts for their rifle qualifications.

The training division also conducted Retired Law Enforcement Officer Safety Act (LEOSA) qualifications twice during 2025. We qualified over 50 retired officers in 2025. We do this for those retired officers in appreciation for their service to our community.

Our training schedule for 2026 will include many of these same classes and new ones we are adding to the curriculum, check the OKC Gun Club website for information about those upcoming classes. (note: these numbers do not include the Ladies Pistol League, or courses offered by other instructors).

2025 Oklahoma Section USPSA

Red Dirt Rumble "All Gas No Brakes" Championship

By Mitch Gibson Photos by Louis Renova

November 7th and 8th saw OKC Gun Club hosting its first USPSA section championship in many years, to great fanfare and wild success. The match sold out 3 months in advance and drew competitors mostly from Oklahoma and surrounding states, but also from around the nation, along with a couple of shooters from Canada and Sweden.

OKCGC member Mitch Gibson designed all the stages for the match, and a group of club members including Mitch Gibson, Yury Delendik, Aaron Armentrout, Tony Wall, and Luis Renova designed and manufactured the trophies. The trophies consisted of a 3D printed base housing electronics and battery compartment with a touch sensor, a large acrylic cutout of Oklahoma with laser engraving, and a 3D-printed buffalo skull. The large trophies had lighting and audio, and the small trophies just had lighting, but all came with a remote control.

Gibson Custom Guns was the match sponsor, and we gave away two custom 2011 Limited Optics guns.

Many thanks to the folks who helped with the match including build and tear down: Mitch Gibson, Casey Cantrell, Greg Goode, Scott Graves, Aaron Armentrout, Kurt Miller, Micah Puckett, and Tony Wall.
